“There is a larger problem... and that is the way the federal government does procurement and does IT is just generally not very efficient”

- Président Barack Obama

“These new digital and technology platforms are the foundations of our new civic infrastructure, a modern equivalent to London’s Victorian sewer network or the building of the National Grid”

- Sir Francis Maude

“Digital is the technological enabler of the century”

- Mike Bracken

“If 100 people can do the work of 12,000, then my country does not have to suffer from the prevailing logic that economic success required an economy of scale.”

- President Toomas Hendrik Ilves

“There are 7,000 government needs that we have to meet in order to do what we do, but all of those should be secondary to the user need”

- Jen Pahlka

“Governments must take on the roles of a facilitator and enabler – to collaborate with the public, private, and people sectors in creating new solutions, new businesses and new wealth”

- Teo Chee Hean
